Feedback from Students:

The College takes the feedback from the Students via online feedback system in college website, on curricular aspects and results, analysis of which is given above. Based on the results it is understood that the students have some grievances regarding availability of the syllabus as e-content. This issue is addressed by addition of more econtent in the library, and registration in INFLIBNET via which students can access over 30000 ebooks, and ejournals. To include latest developments in curriculum, ICT enabled tools are to be implemented more in the classroom, taking contents from various updated academic sources.

Feedback from the Faculty:

The College arranges a feedback session with the faculty members via online feedback system in college website. The feedback is taken mainly focusing on the academics of the students like whether the syllabus studied in the College helps the students to attain the course outcome, is the library of the College efficient enough to fulfill the needs of the students, whether the curriculum is advanced, whether the syllabus is covered in the classroom in the stipulated time.

The faculties are quite sure about the syllabus being covered in the classrooms in the stipulated timeframe, but they are not satisfied with the resources available in the library which seems insufficient to fulfill the need of the students as well as the faculty members. The syllabus studied in the college seems to attain the course outcome, as many of the alumni are placed in prestigious posts till date. But this percentage is not more than 40% rests are either engaged in private sector or family occupation.

The College takes the feedback session of the faculty members seriously and hence note down the different new innovative ideas given by them. They propose different career related professional courses which would enhance the students to get a viable job later, make the library efficient enough to make the e-resources available for the students and the faculties easily etc.

The College takes the proposal to the Governing Body after viable discussion with the different Departmental Heads and the Committees for the action plan. The College authority tries its best for any kind of up gradation required for the further development of the institution and the students as a whole.
